

Pine – Strawberry Trails System

Trail Map

The Arizona Trail
Pine is a gateway Community for the Arizona Trail, which runs the entire length of the state of Arizona. The segment through this area is marked in yellow.

Bob Bear Trail
Length: 4 miles, Elevation Change: 1400ft
Once you hike down to Fossil Springs you will find a beautiful riparian area. Be prepared to hike back up to the trailhead and carry lots of water. Permit required from Apr 1 – Oct 1. <https://www.recreation.gov/permits/4251903>

Mohawk Trail
Length: 0.3 mile, Elevation Change: 200ft
A connector trail from the west side of Pine (Mohawk Street) to the Pine Strawberry Trail 15.

Bearfoot Trail
Length: 6.5 miles, Elevation Gain/Loss: +1340ft/-1590ft
This trail winds through the fuel break surrounding Pine and offers access to the east side of Pine Canyon.

Pine Strawberry Trail 15
Length: 4 miles, Elevation Gain/Loss: 1250ft/-1520ft
This scenic trail goes from Strawberry Trailhead, winds through pines, juniper and red oak along the east side of Strawberry Mountain, ending on FR 428.

Oak Spring Trail
Length: 3.5 miles, Elevation Gain/Loss: 660ft/-820ft
This trail goes into Oak Spring Canyon and Oak Spring, with switchbacks and impressive views. AZ Trail Passage 25.

Firewise Interpretive Trail
Length: 0.5 mile
This easy loop circles the Pine Trailhead and features signs explaining the benefits of firewising. Benches and covered picnic tables provide places to relax and enjoy the forest.

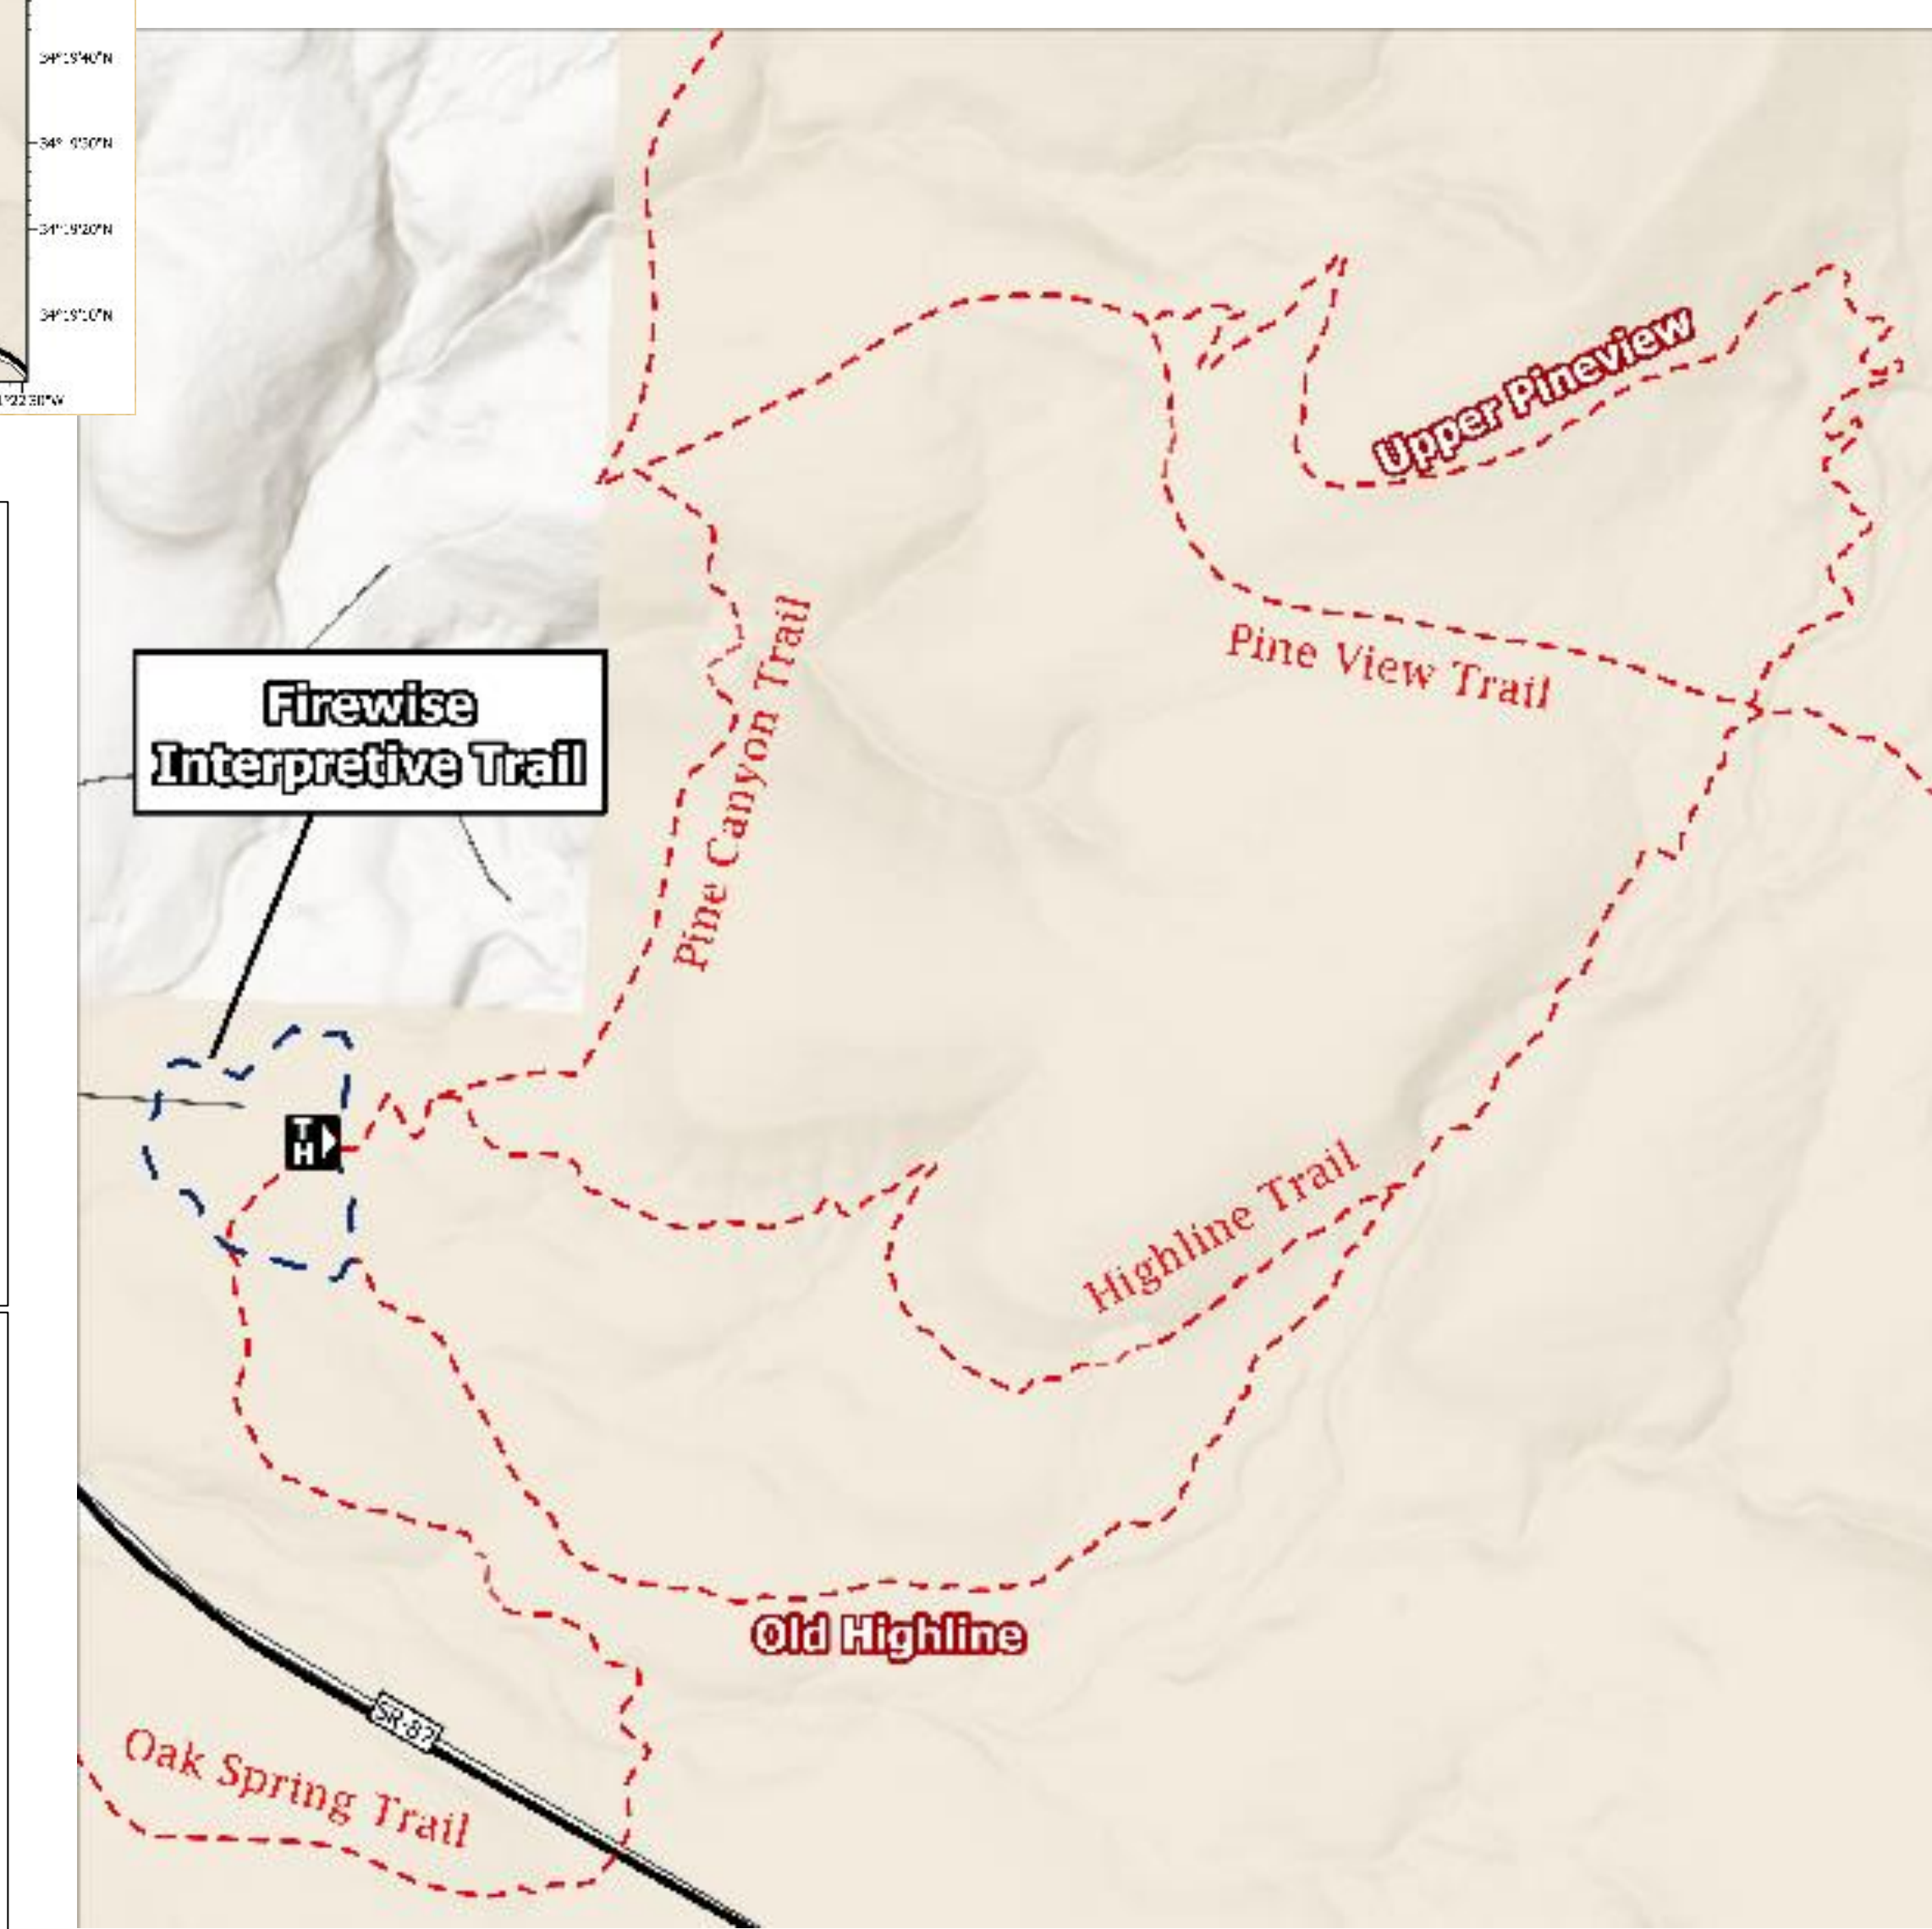

Pine Canyon Trail
Length: 7.5 miles, Elevation Gain/Loss: 1740ft/-1650ft
Starting from the Pine Trailhead and continuing up to the Rim near Cinch Hook, this trail offers beautiful views and a cool hike along Pine Creek past Dripping Springs.

Good Enough Trail
Length: 0.7 mile, Elevation Gain: 500ft
A connector trail from the eastern edge of Pine (Manzanita Road) to the Pine Canyon Trail.

Highline National Recreation Trail
Length: 51 miles
Views for miles, Water for communities, Trails for all
Arizona Trail Passage 26

Red Rock Springs Trail
Length: 1 mile, Elevation Gain: 620ft
The spring at the trail's end was used as a watering hole by Native Apache tribes and by local settlers.

Download pdf map at: <http://psfr.us/trailmap>

Pine Trailhead

- Trailheads
- Trails
- Interpretive trail
- Roads
- Tonto National Forest
- Coconino National Forest
- Wilderness Area

Pine View Trail, Length: 1 mile, Elevation Gain: 200ft
This is a connecting trail between Pine Canyon Trail and the Highline Trail, with great views of Pine.

Geronimo Trail, Length: 3 miles, Elevation Gain/Loss: 620ft/-570ft
This trail provides access to Trails 217, 228 & 289

East Webber Trail, Length: 2.8 miles, Elevation Gain/Loss: 2000ft/-240ft
This trail follows Webber Creek ending at a spring under the Rim.

West Webber Trail, Length: 2 miles, Elevation Gain/Loss: 1400ft/-190ft
This beautiful trail with many switchbacks climbs to the top of the Rim.

Turkey Springs Trail, Length: 2.5 miles, Elevation Gain/Loss: 1570ft/-35ft
A seldom used trail with beautiful views that climbs to the top of the Rim.

Donahue Trail, Length: 1.75 miles, Elevation Gain: 1375ft
A challenging trail with steep, short switchbacks and loose rocks.

Walnut Trail, Length: 1.8 miles, Elevation Gain/Loss: 280ft/-760ft
This scenic trail travels from FR 428 to the Mazatzal Wilderness.

Rock Wall Trail, Length: 2 miles, Elevation Gain/Loss: 850ft/-150ft
This trail follows an old wagon road ascending the Mogollon Rim with historic rock retaining walls.

